

Chapter Discussion on Sensibility & Ethics

Decision making is the cognitive process of selecting a course of action from several possible alternatives. It's a process based on the decision-maker's values and beliefs. This chapter discussion will use Hoza's Toward an Interpreter Sensibility: Three Levels of Ethical Analysis and a Comprehensive Model of Ethical Decision-Making for Interpreters to explore the ethical decision-making process of interpreters. The book chapter will highlight multiple areas of ethics, differentiate ethical decisions from other kinds of decisions, explain moral analysis, and explore two models of decision-making to the work of interpreters.

Sensibility & Ethics chapter discussion is facilitated by Amy Kroll. This interactive discussion is for working and student interpreters.

By the end of this chapter discussion, you will be able to...

- Discuss four areas of ethics, the Lombardi's three levels of moral analysis, the Interpreter Sensibility model, and the Comprehensive Model of Ethical Decision-Making for Interpreters
- Distinguish between ethical decisions and other types of decisions
- Appraise how interpreters can implement ethical decision-making process throughout their work
